Director's Note

Dr Franklin Ngwu
Centre Director

The year 2020 was one of harsh realities and uncertainties. We are glad for your support, loyalty and commitment notwithstanding the extraordinary and challenging circumstances we all faced. We made it through and would like to share with you our reflections, learnings and accomplishments. Despite the disruptions, we at the Lagos Business School Sustainability Centre achieved our goal of bringing together theory and practice of sustainability through courses, research and dialogue forums all centred on four thematic areas - (1) Sustainable Development & Corporate Sustainability, (2) Responsible Business & Leadership, (3) Circular Economy and (4) Nonprofit & Social Enterprise Management. Through strategic engagement with corporates, leading NGOs, LBS Faculty and expert facilitators, our committed team members designed and delivered various programmes for business executives, nonprofit leaders, sustainable waste managers, media personnel, business students, etc.

I have been an affiliate member of the centre for several years, therefore I'm familiar with its objectives and activities. I'm grateful for the opportunity to serve in this capacity and eager to hit the ground running. I trust that this report will provide insight on the steps we, our partners and stakeholders have taken and are taking to create impact and move the sustainability agenda forward in Nigeria and Africa. We thank you for your support, active participation and contributions in 2020 and we look forward to working with you in the coming year.

With gratitude and best wishes for the new year!

From the Manager's Desk

Oreva Atanya
Centre Manager

2020 saw the emergence of a global pandemic that brought disruptions to us as individuals, families, communities, businesses and nations. As we entered a national lockdown, the centre moved all its operations and activities online.

Leveraging the LBS eLearning Management System, the Centre delivered two Cycles of the Nonprofit Leadership and Management Programmes (NPLM) and a new Nonprofit Programme for Senior Executives (NPMfEX), these impacted over 80 NGOs and are supported by Ford Foundation West Africa. The Centre also trained 48 circular economy leaders through the Leadership Programme for Sustainable Waste Management supported by the Aspire Coronation Trust (ACT) Foundation. Our funded programme offerings were expanded to include the Sustainable Flex-Plastic Waste Management supported by the Dow Impact Fund. The Centre also partnered with Nestle Nigeria to train a cohort of journalists through the Advancing Nutrition, Health and Wellness Reporting Programme.

The Centre continues to advance sustainability knowledge. We introduced a new modular programme for business executives known as the Corporate Sustainability Programme and delivered the Global MBA course 'Business as a Force for Good: Sustainability and Sustainable Development in Africa'. The Centre convened major forums aiding constructive dialogues and collaborations among business, government, civil society and academia to explore solutions to critical sustainability challenges. These included our first virtual International Sustainability Conference and Chief Executive Forum on Sustainability which recorded active participation of top business, nonprofit and government leaders.

With the effects of COVID-19 lingering on businesses, economies and society in general, it is clear that the road to sustainable recovery will be a long one. However, we are certain that by working together, these engagements helped to pave the way for more action and opportunities for sustainable development in Africa. We thank you for your support, active participation and contributions in 2020 and we look forward to working with you in the coming year. Finally, a big thank you to the fantastic team at the centre, who despite having to work remotely have been so productive and efficient in the past year.

Impact in Words

Professor Enase Okonedo, Deputy Vice Chancellor,
Pan Atlantic University
Chief Executive Forum on Sustainability

'We all have to think outside the box, to think more creatively and innovatively as to the kind of partnerships we can create that not only benefit our businesses but also benefit the economy and society...the success of corporate sustainability initiatives depends on employees who can move the theories to practice and the partnerships that we build to tackle this.'

Dr Jubril Adejo, SMEFUNDS Capital
International Sustainability Conference

'This conference is coming at the right time and the theme of the conference is also very well thought through because for the past several months, the conversation has been about post-covid recovery but recovery is a very vague word to use. We need to qualify what kind of recovery we want to see in Africa so the use of sustainability is actually very important.'

Ayodele Paul
Corporate Sustainability Programme

Conducting a gap analysis on my previous knowledge on sustainability, I am comfortably conversing with the management of my organisation on sustainability and strategy as against my previous status quo. I am somewhat leading the sustainability team now and reflecting on the content taught has helped me arrive where I am today. Looking forward to more content. Thank you, LBS.

Okiroro Ayouvuta
Circular Economy Programme

"The Dow-LBS programme is superb. From programme content, structure, to standard management and skilled facilitators. During the course of learning, I was equipped with financial management skills, developing an attractive business model and sustained traction for products, as well as arising opportunity and technology in the circular economy and a lot more in the waste management industry, which we really wanted at MichelEE Engineering Integrated Service. I am grateful to LBS-Dow for this wonderful opportunity. In fact, this is a milestone for us at MitchelEE Engineering."

Medinat Kanebe*Advancing Nutrition Health and Wellness through the Media

'Before the programme, I thought it was not going to be different from others I have attended but I was wrong. It was mind blowing, I don't know exactly why but I felt yes, this is what I have been waiting for.'

Anonymous*Nonprofit Management for Senior Executives

'I have gathered a lot than I thought I knew on sustainable waste management. I've learnt that it's not just about having an idea but transforming it into something beneficial to myself, my environment and my society. That paradigm shift is necessary.'

Mosope*Leadership Programme for Sustainable Waste Management

'I have gathered a lot than I thought I knew on sustainable waste management. I've learnt that it's not just about having an idea but transforming it into something beneficial to myself, my environment and my society. That paradigm shift is necessary.'

Anonymous*Nonprofit Leadership and Management Programme Cycle 6

'The programme was an eye-opener to salient aspects of the non-profit sector. The teaching methods (individual/group activities, reflections, videos, assignments, live classes etc.) were topnotch. I learnt the importance of a non-profit vision/mission, governance structure, partnership, compliance and sustainability.'

LBS is a place to learn. They have gotten professionals (top-notch) to deliver a world-class deliverable to improve you on your career path.

Best Corporate Social Responsibility Initiative

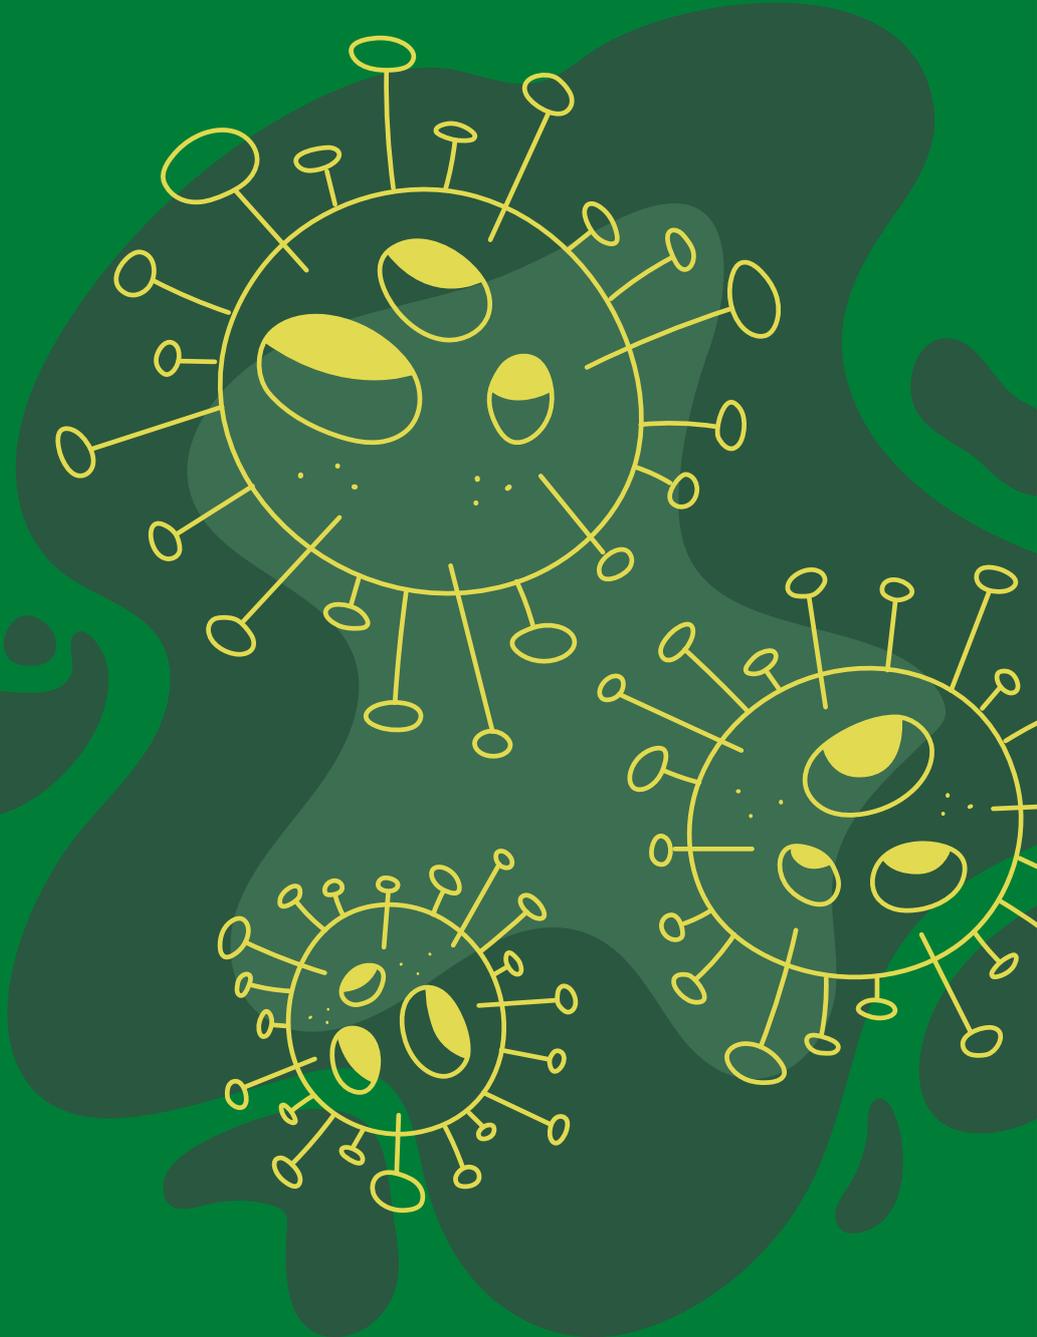

Lagos Business School, Pan-Atlantic University (Nigeria) for 'LBS Sustainability Centre (LBSSC)'

Lagos Business School (LBS) is passionate about sustainability and good governance. The commitment to sustainability of its continuous improvement policies is achieved through its established centre, the LBS Sustainability Centre (LBSSC).

A core pillar of the LBS MBA experience is building professional ethics and community service. In line with this, MBA participants take part in both corporate social responsibility and personal social responsibility activities geared towards developing sustainable solutions to specific social problems faced by target communities

Responding to the COVID-19 Pandemic

LAGOS
BUSINESS

PAN-ATLANTIC UNIVERSITY

Lagos Business School's immediate response to news of the outbreak was to constitute a team that developed a school-wide plan to urgently tackle the situation within our community. The Response Team created short-, medium-, and long-term plans detailing safety measures to be implemented if the situation escalates.

As we progressed towards a national shutdown, Lagos Business School began operating from home effective Wednesday, March 25, 2020. In view of this, LBS Sustainability Centre's activities and intentions towards providing support to the sustainable development ecosystem continued.

Our capacity-building programmes and courses transitioned into modular (online) programmes. This led to slight changes in our programme schedule but our communications channels were in top-gear, keeping stakeholders informed of training opportunities for their professional and personal development.

The Centre continued to champion high-level dialogues and broad-reaching discourse around responsible business, sustainable development, circular economy and nonprofit management. We hosted our stakeholder forums on virtual platforms which allowed stakeholders to participate from any location in the world. Our newsletters and various social media pages remained available to keep our subscribers informed and connected.

We urged everyone to practise social distancing among other preventive measures.

What we do

The LBS Sustainability Centre is the first of its kind in Nigeria. It is designed to refocus the relationship between businesses and their stakeholders by contributing to the development of responsible business leaders. We work with organisations to help them incorporate sustainable practices in their operations and develop innovative products and services that transform their communities and simultaneously generate economic value. This enables businesses to sustain livelihoods, reduce poverty, and contribute to national development as well as the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Our Objectives:

- Knowledge creation through industry and action research in the areas of responsible business, corporate sustainability, corporate governance, corporate social responsibility, business ethics, nonprofit management, and social entrepreneurship.
- Knowledge dissemination through customised executive training programmes, seminars and workshops, LBS MBA and executive programmes, forums and conferences.
- Knowledge application through collaboration with businesses, government agencies, academic institutions and civil society organisations.

Stakeholder Engagements & Partnerships

Achieving sustainable long-term change in Nigeria requires a significant strengthening of the policy formulation and implementation process. This involves directly influencing policymakers, regulators and companies. The Centre utilises ICT resources - digital media, social media platforms, social networks and dialogue sessions to advocate for the improvement of business engagement with society. This strategic focus has met with considerable success. The Centre was involved in the conception of the sustainable banking initiative by the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN). This initiative led to the creation of the Nigerian Sustainable Banking Principles in 2012. The Centre was also involved in the formation of the Nigerian Business Coalition for Sustainable Development (NBCSD) in 2014. The Director of the Centre, Dr Franklin Ngwu also represents LBS as co-chair of the Private Sector Advisory Group on SDGs in Nigeria. The Centre's commitment to collaborative partnership has seen it engage with some of Nigeria's leading organisations to mainstream the sustainability agenda in the country.

Capacity Building Programmes

In the Centre's quest for continuous improvement, training programme curricula are consistently assessed with a view to ensuring they remain relevant and of immense use to our participants. As such, the Centre offers a series of capacity building programmes for public officials, business executives, and entrepreneurs, as well as sustainability courses as part of LBS' MBA programmes.

Research

LBS Sustainability Centre conducts industry and practitioner-focused research in business ethics, sustainability, social entrepreneurship and corporate governance. The research output of the Centre serves as the anchor for sustainability courses in Lagos Business School's full-time MBA programmes and executive education curriculum, as well as training programmes.

Industry Engagement

LBS Sustainability Centre also supports organisations in the design, development, implementation and assessment of their sustainability strategy, initiatives and projects.

- Sustainable Strategy Development
- Socio-Economic Impact Assessment
- Corporate Social Responsibility Programme Design
- Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) Initiative Implementation
- Sustainability Reporting

The Centre consolidates theory and practice on sustainability, builds leadership skills and supports constructive dialogue and collaboration between business, government, civil society and academics in order to find solutions to critical sustainability challenges. In its resolve to expand the sustainability conversation and embed sustainability thinking in corporate strategy, the Centre's research, seminars and stakeholder engagement are based on the following thematic areas:

| Corporate Sustainability               | Corporate sustainability entails the approach and action of businesses towards sustainable development, sustainability strategy, shared value, corporate social responsibility (CSR), and corporate philanthropy. It also involves the designing, building, and operating of structural elements in ways that do not diminish the social, economic and ecological processes required to maintain human equity, diversity, and the functionality of natural systems. LBSSC is committed to helping organisations understand their impact through sustainable business practices and sustainability initiatives. Therefore, we are assisting organisations by providing dialogue platforms and training. We also work with partners and relevant stakeholders on strategic policy advocacy and implementation in the areas of skills development, education, water, nutrition, health and power. |
| Responsible Business and Leadership  | Responsible businesses are principle and value-driven, demonstrating consideration for employees, customers, suppliers and the wider society in the course of their profit-making activities. We believe that leadership plays a key role in running businesses in a responsible manner. Africa is transforming, and the continent's economic and industrial development should be channelled in a manner that ensures that businesses operate responsibly and contribute to the holistic vision of economic, social and environmental development. Businesses in Africa are resilient notwithstanding the challenges encountered. They should also see themselves as responsible for and to the society from which their businesses emerge, exist and thrive. Businesses are critical change agents, well-positioned to be at the helm of the transformation of Africa.                       |
| Circular Economy                     | A circular economy is based on the principles of designing out waste and pollution, keeping products and materials in use, and regenerating natural systems. This industrial model aims to restore or regenerate the ecosystem, society and economy by intention and design. LBSSC is committed to driving knowledge and action for organisations that replaces the end-of-life concept with restoration, shifts towards the use of renewable energy, eliminates the use of toxic chemicals, which impair reuse and return to the biosphere and aims for the elimination of waste through the superior design of materials, products, systems and business models.   |

Nonprofit and Social Enterprise Management

Nonprofits, Civil Society Organisations and Social Enterprises play a pivotal role in the advancement and development of societies and African nations in particular. To ensure the long-term impact of this sector, however, these organisations require effective management and responsible leadership.

Social entrepreneurship addresses social problems by employing entrepreneurial principles, processes and operations. LBSSC is committed to supporting SMEs to solve social challenges and create value for the socio-economic development of nations, therefore, we support SMEs to integrate sustainability.

Our Services

We work with the Businesses, Government Agencies and Non-Governmental Organisations to deliver specific short and long-term projects. These include, but are not limited to:

- Sustainable Strategy Development
- Socio-Economic Impact Assessment
- Sustainability Report Review
- Sustainability Materiality Assessment and Mapping

Social Impact and Sustainability Reporting Workshop

Social impact is increasingly accepted as an international basis of measuring a company's success. However, there is a dearth of professional training programmes on social impact and sustainability reporting, for individuals and organisations in Nigeria. The programme is for individuals from organisations that are looking to build competence in social impact as part of business strategy as it concerns social impact assessment and sustainability reporting.

Participants and others had a pre-engagement webinar facilitated by Professor Chris Ogbechie on the topic 'A Force for Good in Africa: Sustainable Development and Responsible Business'

A Force for Good in Africa: Sustainable Development and Responsible Business

The idea of 'Business as a Force for Good' is demonstrated in a growing number of businesses that are creating positive value in society and becoming more responsible towards the environment in which they operate. As agents of change, many businesses are moving beyond profit maximisation and market competition to adopt sustainable business models, operations, innovation and collaboration to drive socio-environmental solutions. How can this work in the midst of pressing developmental challenges and volatile markets especially in African countries? This webinar explored the business case for sustainability and ideas on how businesses can address complex socio-environmental issues such as poverty, inequality, climate change, youth unemployment, natural resource constraints and create positive value in the society while remaining profitable.

Growing as a Leader: Personal and Professional Development in the Nonprofit Sector

Professional growth and personal development are crucial to your career and now is the time to take charge by embracing new challenges and learning opportunities to advance your goal. This is important because, partly due to budget constraints, few organisations in the nonprofit sector have formal professional development programmes to prepare staff/volunteers for senior roles and to address the increasingly complex social problems nonprofits face. In this webinar, Osayi Alile, CEO, Aspire Coronation Trust (ACT) shared her vast experience on growing as a leader and building a career in today's nonprofit sector and in the ecosystem of global philanthropy.

Innovating through a Crisis: CSOs, Funding & Rights-based Development In the Era of COVID-19.

We often speak of the role of innovation in the age of constant, rapid, and radical disruptions. The current coronavirus pandemic has facilitated a rapid and uncertain time for nonprofits worldwide as organisations try as much as to meet their stakeholders and beneficiaries while trying as much as possible to achieve its mission and continue to create impact. Now more than ever nonprofit organisations need to innovate, but how? Where should they start? What should guide them? Failing to innovate in a stable environment comes with potential long-term implications for the viability of your nonprofit, but failing to do so rapidly during a crisis such as this could result in the immediate dissolution of your organisation.

Building High-Impact Partnerships – Opportunities & Risks of Collaboration

Many nonprofits, mostly in Africa, have limited resources – whether financial and/or human – and as nonprofit leaders and managers, we must optimise their use. The fundamental core of good partnerships is their ability to bring together diverse resources in ways that can together achieve more: more impact, greater sustainability, increased value to their many stakeholders. In this live panel discussion, panellists shared impactful insights on how nonprofits can build and sustain high-impact partnerships, especially in this COVID-19 era where nonprofit organisations are in the front line providing solutions to the many consequences of the pandemic globally and would require partnerships to scale and increase the reach and impact of their social solutions.

Solutions from the Value Chain - Circular Economy in Plastic Waste Management.

Plastic is a valuable material that has a vital place in the economy and in the packaging business. It is crucial for the safe and efficient distribution of products – and it has a lower carbon footprint than many alternative materials. This notwithstanding, plastic deposits pose a great threat to life in the oceans/rivers and sanitary conditions in cities and the countryside. Each minute the equivalent of one rubbish truck of plastic leaks into streams and rivers around the globe, ultimately ending up in oceans. This webinar discussed rethinking plastic packaging and the various business opportunities, two broad areas relevant to the innovative application of circular economy principles in flexible plastic waste management.

Harnessing the Potential of Public-Private Partnership (PPP) for a more Sustainable Plastic Waste Management in Nigeria

Effective plastic waste management has the potential to address economic, social and environmental concerns by transforming plastic waste into a valuable resource that has economic value. To do this effectively, there is a need for all relevant stakeholders to cooperate and build an effective plastic waste management system. During this webinar, our panellists were able to explore the ways to harness the potential of partnerships towards driving a circular economy

Strategies for Donor Engagement & Retention

It's no secret that nonprofits have a donor retention problem. When it comes to donors, you don't just want that initial grant, contribution and/or donations. Organisations want to maintain a relationship beyond the grant period, contributions and project implementation. Building this relationship starts with the first giving experience and continues as you create and enhance connections with the right messaging, activities and communications. In this webinar, participants learned simple donor management strategies, project implementation and communications that influence donor retention.

The Art of Storytelling for Impact

One of the strongest tools for communication is storytelling. A good story, builds empathy, forges trust, and creates deeper connections. It is also a highly effective way to ignite emotions with meaning and intention. In this webinar, the facilitator explored the various ways nonprofit organisations can use communication beyond the exchange of information. Participants were also engaged on the fundamentals of storytelling and tools that aid in the process of refining and compiling well-told stories.

Sustainable Food Systems & Nutrition: Integrating Nutrition-Sensitive Food Systems into Long-term Policies, Investments & Programmes

The COVID-19 pandemic presents unprecedented challenges to food systems and food security worldwide, particularly in African countries. The World Bank estimates that, on the heels of COVID-19, agricultural production on the continent would potentially contract between 2.6% in an optimistic scenario and up to 7% if there are trade blockages. However, the crisis presents an opportunity to take a holistic approach to not only address food insecurity exacerbated by the pandemic but also to address the vulnerabilities of pre-existing unsustainable food systems. Our panellists on this webinar discussed the linkages, challenges, and opportunities between sustainability, agriculture, food systems and nutrition in the context of Africa and the COVID-19 pandemic.

Business and Job Opportunities in E-Waste Management in Nigeria

Technology is becoming more and more integrated into every aspect of our lives. While this is a welcome development, the waste generated from these technological devices is becoming a global problem. In Africa, e-waste poses serious environmental and health challenges with dire consequences. In solving the problem of e-waste, there are a lot of opportunities for the region to explore. This live webinar discussion examined the opportunities in e-waste management and steps which businesses and individuals can take to realise the full potential of these opportunities in the electronic waste value chain.

COVID-19 has brought significant disruptions to the economic and social lives of Nigerians and people all over the world, with significantly adverse effects on vulnerable communities. Beyond the financial cost to individuals and government, the cost of human lives cannot be overemphasized. In the fight to curb the spread of the coronavirus, there has already been a considerable economic impact on businesses that have had to close in the hardest hit states, and on the large number of people in the informal sector who have to be in their homes without any savings to fall back on for their daily needs.

The main objective of this report is to present a business-relevant resource on corporate sustainability practices in Nigeria's banking industry. The report provides information on sustainability trends, efforts to address sustainable development in the banking industry, as well as related challenges and opportunities. This edition of the study looks at the sustainability trajectory of Nigeria's Deposit Money Banks (DMBs), otherwise referred to as commercial banks, from the introduction of the Nigerian Sustainable Banking Principles (NSBPs) in 2012 until 2019.

Stakeholder Forum

Chief Executive Forum on Sustainability

Theme: Sustainable Action for Recovery and Growth: People, Planet and Profit

In recent years, there has been an increase in the conversation around building and running sustainable businesses. Whilst some progress has been made in the Nigerian context, this has not always translated into a sustainable impact on our environment, economy and society. Business leaders generally agree that incorporating sustainable practices is critical to the long-term success of their business, only a few put it into their strategy and follow through with action.

There remains a huge gap between sustainability and CSR rhetoric and our reality. COVID-19 has changed the way local and global economies work. It will alter how successful businesses grow and operate. Now more than ever, it is important for businesses to evolve and operate sustainably. Businesses now need leaders who make long term sustainability and resilience a priority. It is time to integrate sustainability into business strategy.

International Sustainability Conference

Theme: Strategies for Sustainable Economic Recovery

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, we are now living through very uncertain times. Several countries have been on lockdown for several months in a bid to curb the spread of the virus and flatten the curve. Many leaders realise that working from home and social distancing may be the norm for the foreseeable future. As the pandemic trudged on, it resulted in the decimation of many nations economies, job losses and crumbling businesses. Governments wonder how they can ensure the health and safety of their citizens without compromising their livelihoods. Businesses are faced with a more complex and volatile operating environment which has led to unprecedented loss of revenues and livelihoods. The civil society also grapples with challenges of addressing pressing social issues in the midst of the pandemic.

It is against this background that we discussed possible strategies which can be adopted to ensure sustainable economic recovery. This is necessary to provide employment and build a more prosperous and inclusive society, especially in Africa. We must strive to rebuild in a way that benefits both the present and future generations.

Health Sector Stakeholders Forum

Theme: COVID-19 in Africa and the impact on medical products and technologies: what we know and what we should be doing

The disruptive effects of the COVID-19 outbreak have been felt in every sector, especially in the global supply of medical products and technologies, both directly and indirectly. While there is global attention on the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, policymakers and all stakeholders must plan to mitigate the direct and collateral negative consequences of the outbreak. Maintaining the supply chain of quality-assured medical products (medicines and vaccines) and technologies will be fundamental to reducing the disruption in the healthcare delivery system, which is constantly in need of these products for smooth functioning. # Gender Equity and Transformational Leadership Forum

Theme: Towards Gender Equity: Transforming Institutions, Systems & Cultures as a Route to Impact

Although much has been accomplished in the name of gender equality, it is still true that in no region of the world are women and men equal in legal, social or economic rights. We believe that this is because the bulk of development and human rights work toward gender equity ignores the role of the institutions (formal and informal) that maintain women's unequal position. There is a growing consensus across the world that to make a significant impact on gender inequity, we must change institutions and transform cultures. The transformation of institutions is central to the goal of translating this vision of development into concrete policies, programmes and practices. This live interactive webinar was hosted by Lagos Business School Sustainability Centre in partnership with Women in Successful Careers (WISCAR).

West African Clean Energy & Environment Trade Fair and Conference

The West African Clean Energy & Environment Trade Fair and Conference (eWACEE) is a leading sustainability event focused on clean energy, circular economy, and water topics. The Conference is held jointly by the Delegation of German Industry and Commerce in Nigeria (AHK Nigeria), Delegation of German Industry & Commerce in Ghana & Konrad Adenauer Stiftung in partnership with Lagos Business School Sustainability Centre.

eWACEE provided a platform for exhibitors in the clean energy, water and circular economy sectors to showcase their latest innovations and new products to over 5000 visitors for a period of 30 days. The exhibition was complemented by a 4-day live conference comprising presentations, keynote sessions and panel discussions among relevant stakeholders and decision makers. This new format allowed sponsors and exhibitors showcase their brands, display an unlimited number of products and also connect to a wider range of local and international audience.

MBA - Sustainability and Personal Social Responsibility (PSR) Project

Facilitator(s): Professor Chris Ogbechie and Oreva Atanya
Project Coordinator: Jude Obidiagha
Delivery: Compulsory Course, Inclass Sessions and Onsite Project Implementation

A core pillar of the LBS MBA experience is building professional ethics and community service. In line with this, the PSR Project affords MBAs the opportunities to develop sustainable solutions to specific social problems faced by target communities and also to serve as management consultants on the various projects that they develop and implement. The PSR project creates an opportunity for future business leaders and managers to work with youth in the nonprofit space by investing their time, talent and resources in a cause for the well-being of others and the community. Working in collaboration with participants of the Nonprofit Leadership and Management (NPLM) Programme, the MBA students will go through full-range project activities, from opportunity identification to project implementation.

Teacher's Workshop on Improving STEM Knowledge Transfer Through Virtual Environments

In light of the Covid-19 pandemic, the workshop provided integrative training to STEM educators at the primary and secondary level. The aim was to improve the capacity of the educators to deliver STEM lessons in virtual environments. Overall, the STEM Tutors project was aimed at introducing quality STEM education into the Primary and Secondary school curriculum; providing students and teachers with adequate STEM training, materials and tools with the aim of positioning African graduates in the next six years to compete globally as Innovators.

In partnership with TechGen Africa – an organization focused on accelerating African talent through education and technology, the workshop trained 30 educators and featured International STEM educators as session anchors.

Look Again Campaign - Improving early detection of childhood cancers in Nigeria

Look Again Campaign is designed to engage, enlighten and empower community-level health care professionals and workers, community leaders, members and stakeholders to create awareness, education, and enlightenment about childhood cancers in the state.

The project was designed to engage and educate lower-cadre health care workers to increase awareness and treatment of childhood cancers. The project encouraged a model of collaboration between healthworks, community members to facilitate early detection, effective referral systems for diagnosis and treatment, reducing delays in the diagnosis to the treatment process and ultimately increasing childhood cancer survival.

27 participants comprising Doctors, Nurses, CHO (community health organizations), CHEWS (community health workers), and Cancer advocates were trained. Participants gained knowledge on practical methods to clinically identify possible early signs and symptoms of childhood cancers. 72% of the participants responded that the training was very relevant and helpful to them for their job.

Boychild Mentorship Program

The project empowers teenage boys (13-19) socially and emotionally, as they develop into full adulthood. The project supports a mentorship community where teenage boys are able to openly speak with grown men who have been able to successfully navigate their teenage years, thereby equipping the young boys with a healthy set of emotional and mental resources for face life's ups and downs.

Project outcomes include the following

- Life skills empowerment: Long term metrics will indicate the translation of the acquisition of life skills for social and emotional development, etc.
- Increased capacity/community: Increase in the number of male teens who develop into well-rounded men with the capacity to navigate life pressures
- Decrease in social vices: A decrease in the number of male teens who develop into adult men that are involved in domestic violence, drug abuse, suicide, abusive or negligent parenting
- A more Inclusive culture: Expansion of an inclusive culture in the work and society; increase in the engagement of boys and young men in the promotion of gender equality.

MeToMen Foundation is a social organization that provides the social intelligence and character education through training and mentorship to young men transitioning into adulthood

BUSINESS AS A FORCE FOR GOOD (GNAM MBA COURSE)

The course "Business as a Force for Good: Sustainability and Sustainable Development in Africa", is a collaborative offering across schools of the Global Network for Advanced Management (GNAM) and it draws together cases, readings and perspectives of practitioners from business, academia, government and civil society on the topic of sustainable development and sustainability. The course seeks to explore new and innovative ideas on how businesses can address complex socio-environmental issues- such as poverty, inequality, climate change, natural resource constraints - and create positive value in society while remaining profitable. It also seeks to better understand in a very human and pragmatic way the contours of the challenges around sustainable development faced by societies across Africa. The course had a duration of eight (8) weeks with a total of 16 Sessions.

Building Youth Leadership Capacity in Nonprofit Management

Recognising the need to build the capacity of youth in the nonprofit sector, LBS Sustainability Centre with the support of the Ford Foundation West Africa developed and implemented the project 'Support Capacity Building for Young Feminist Leaders through the Non-Profit Leadership and Management Programme'. The project began in June 2017 and has led to the development of certificate programmes for youth and executives in the sector. All activities on the project inspire and empower young women and men to apply leadership skills inspired by feminist values and principles to grow their organisations and movements, build purposeful careers in the nonprofit sector and lead important social innovation initiatives with refined tools and greater confidence.

The project has connected youth to experienced mentors through the senior fellows in residence programme and the participation of industry experts as facilitators. Knowledge creation and dissemination have also been achieved through the development of a 'Nonprofit Management Handbook and Casebook' focused on leadership and management challenges in nonprofit organisations and social enterprises. The project also equips business students in LBS MBA programmes to create social, economic and environmental value through collaboration with Nonprofit leaders and delivery of community service initiatives, known as 'Personal Social Responsibility (PSR)' projects.

Leadership Programme for Youth Entrepreneurs in Waste Management

The 'Leadership Programme for Sustainable Waste Management' is a capacity-building project that advances enterprise and leadership development among youth in Nigeria.

The project led to the development and delivery of a certificate programme focused on innovative and sustainable methods of waste management as a business (collection, removal, processing, recycling and disposal). Supported by a grant from the Aspire Coronation Trust (ACT) Foundation, the programme has become a platform for sustainability and entrepreneurship for youth to take actions to mitigate the environmental and health implications of improper waste management.

The programme is geared towards providing technical advice, business skills, understanding of sustainability concepts to improve the financial viability of waste management business which can serve as a tool for addressing the rising (52.65%) youth unemployment in Nigeria.

It aims to facilitate entry of informal youth-led waste management businesses into the formal economy in a manner that will improve their businesses and impact society.

Impact Assessment Study of Coca Cola Community Projects in Nigeria

This report articulates the findings of the impact of the systems community investments, projects and initiatives over the four years of 2016 to 2019. The Coca Cola System in Nigeria consists of Coca-Cola Nigeria Limited and the Nigerian Bottling Company. The system is committed to building sustainable communities, this commitment is exemplified in the company's vast economic and social investment in the country. The Coca-Cola System has been playing its part to support the efforts of government and lead the charge for socio-economic impact on the quality of life and support for women, youth, persons living with special needs, health institutions, mothers and new-born babies, educational institutions, schools, pupils, teachers, water-stressed communities and the recycling value chain in Nigeria as a whole.

Sector Mapping and Support Modeling for Argo-Service Providers (ASPs) in Nigeria

The study explored and documented the current state of the Agro- Service Providers (ASPs) in Nigeria. The study covered the ASPs' size, activities, targeted value chains and key risk factors. The baseline for bankability of the six identified ASP categories as well as technical assistance required for bankability and scaling are also identified. The study concludes with projections of the expected growth of the ASP models and recommendations of the type(s) and levels of financing and technical assistance needed by bankable ASPs, over the next five years.

Programme Fee

₦245,000 | $615

Mode of delivery:

Online/Modular Course ( 10 weeks)

Overview

The Corporate Sustainability Programme is an online certificate programme which aims to provide current and Africa focused management knowledge in the area of corporate sustainability, corporate social responsibility and responsible business. The programme is delivered online via LBS eLearn platform.

In the last two decades, there has been growing interest in the role that business plays in society. This has led to more businesses creating roles for corporate sustainability leads, corporate social responsibility officers, environmental and social risk management and managers and so on. While these professionals are tasked with driving, promoting and managing sustainability within their organisations, they often experience difficulties in delivering their objectives due to a knowledge gap and limited training for their specific roles. The programme provides a self-paced learning option for busy professionals to learn and understand the business case for sustainable development and better deliver on their jobs as sustainability professionals in their firms and/or organisations.

Programme Curriculum

- Business and Sustainability in Africa
- Creating value for customers, host communities and employees through social impact
- Social Impact assessment- best practices
- Capturing and measuring social impact as performance management
- Sustainability Reporting- Transition to GRI Standards

Key Learning Outcomes

Participants will:

- Understand the concepts, principles and practices in corporate sustainability
- Understand the unique opportunities and risks of implementing sustainability strategies and programmes in Africa.
- Gain insights into methods and processes for organisations to improve and measure their economic, social and environmental performance and value creation
- Develop the capacity to drive and manage sustainability projects in workplaces and other situations.

Target Audience

The programme is open to middle management business executives and individuals with roles in

- Sustainability, Corporate Social Responsibility
- Corporate Communications, Government Relations, Public Relations, Investor Relations
